DOMAINE LÉON BOESCH
2012 BRUT ZÉRO

WHERE Alsace, France
GRAPE Pinot Blanc, Pinot Noir and Riesling
AG Organic
SO<sub>2</sub> Low
PRICE $26
IMPORTER Wine MC<sup>3</sup> Selections

Alsace sparklers can be fantastic. Case in point, this number from Boesch. The still wine hangs out in foudres for two years and gets no dosage. But you knew that. Great depth from a sparkler, a bit of rich biscuit, with a metallic, ironic edge.

DOMAINE JOUSSET
2014 CLOS AUX RENARDS
SINGULIER

WHERE Loire, France
GRAPE Chenin Blanc
AG Biodynamic
SO<sub>2</sub> Minimal
PRICE $32
IMPORTER T. Edward Wines

Is it the next cult wine? Perhaps. Beautiful. Importers were fighting over these from Lise and Bertrand at the last Dive Bouteille, even though they were in plain sight for years. But anyway, they have landed in NYC. From 60- to 80-year-old vines. The Clos is a 100-year-old vine. It's got plenty of depth, apple, flush and filled with bitter juicy goodness.

LE ROCHER DES VIOLETTES
2012 CUVÉE LA NÉGRETTE

WHERE Montlouis-sur-Loire, France
GRAPE Chenin Blanc
AG Organic
SO<sub>2</sub> Minimal
PRICE $21
IMPORTER David Bowler Wine

Weisskopf is such a meticulous worker and the wines are always full of polish and life. I often recommend his wines but for some reason have not included the Négrette until now. It is showing gorgeously at the moment. Salty orange rind, long and boney. From clay, limestone and tuffeau soils, it is made in 600-liter demi-muid and raised between 18-20 months on the lees.

DOMAINE LE FAY D'HOMME
2010 MONNIÈRES SAINT FIACRE

WHERE Muscadet, Loire Valley, France
GRAPE Melon de Bourgogne
AG Biodynamic conversion (since 2012)
SO<sub>2</sub> Medium
PRICE $28
IMPORTER Indie Wineries

From gneiss soils, four whole years on the lees. So what does that mean? Plenty of complexity for a little simple wine that is far from simple with the depth of a crenshaw melon. Completely savory and smacks you in the face with a what was that flavor.

TRADUCTION :

Issu d'un terroir de Gneiss, quatre années complètes sur les lies. Alors que cela veut-il dire ? Beaucoup de complexité pour un « petit » vin finalement loin d'être simple avec une profondeur de Melon Crenshaw (variété de melon très gouteux). Littéralement savoureux, il vous embrasse le visage en y laissant ses parfums.
